Concordia Safus

Message from the President and Vice-Chancellor

Not long ago, you were the new kid at school. Lost in a maze of classrooms and buildings, and lost in a sea of faces. Today, you are the face of Concordia.

Graduates, you made it! Bravo! Graduation is an important milestone. It is also an occasion where you can step back, and reflect with pride on your success. Knowledge matters. Your university education has made you a different person, and in turn you will make a difference in the world around you. You can hold your head up high, confident in who you are and all that you have accomplished.

Concordia University has the wind in its sails. Our recently developed strategic framework, entitled “Reaching Up, Reaching Out”, focuses on three pillars that define what Concordia is today and where we aim to be in the next few years: academic work of the highest quality; outstanding student experience and student engagement; and, community engagement and social responsibility. These strategic directions build on the traditional strengths of our founding institutions, Sir George Williams University and Loyola College, and move us ahead for the future.

Our core values remain the same and the fundamental mission of Concordia is as solid as ever: Concordia University is welcoming, engaged, and committed to innovation and excellence in education, research, creative activity and community partnerships. It dares to be different and draws on its diversity to transform the individual, strengthen society and enrich the world.

Graduates, this is your university. We want you to stay connected, to one another, and to us: as graduate students now or in the future, as alumni, or as parents of future Concordia students – in short, as loyal and active members of the family of 155,000 alumni worldwide. Think of Concordia as your home and may you always have fond memories of your years at Concordia.

Class of 2009-2010, you are the leaders of tomorrow. Each of you can change the world, each in your own chosen field, in your own particular way. Just take a chance from time to time, go out on a limb...you will make a difference, and we will be so proud of you.

Success awaits you. Your alma mater will be watching, and cheering you on.

President and Vice-Chancellor

Message from the Dean of Students

You made it! Congratulations on your success after what we know were years of dedicated hard work (and, no doubt, some fun). Hopefully your time with us will be remembered fondly as a period of adventure, challenges, inspiration and learning both inside and outside the classroom. Your life at Concordia and the friends you have made will remain with you forever. Your Concordia experiences that challenged or changed you provided opportunities for you to come to know yourself, feel your strength and potential and they are part of who you are today. We hope you have been inspired by Concordia's values, vision and diversity and that you will take these with you as you leave us to make the world a better place.

Students are the heart and soul of Concordia's success. We, at the Dean of Students Office, are proud to have been a part of your university life, to have helped create an interactive, safe learning community where all students feel valued, important and supported. Your Yearbook was created to help you remember what was so special about Concordia. When you take it off your shelf many years from now, we hope it brings a smile to your face and memories of great people, good times and important lessons. Take on the world...you can do it! Don't forget to keep in touch.

CASE is the deliberative body of representation for students in English in their dealings with the department, the University administration, CSU and ASFA. In addition, CASE helps to fund Soliloquies, Concordia's biannual, student-run journal of poetry, short fiction and drama. Since its inception in 1996, Soliloquies has grown into a vibrant, national publication that proudly represents Concordia within the national literary scene. CASE is also responsible for organizing recreational and social gatherings, as well as workshops, poetry readings, lecture series and other activities relevant to the study and pursuit of literature. These activities and events concurrently offer forums for intellectual exchange, opportunities to network with likeminded individuals and, ultimately, forge lasting bonds among the participants, both student and faculty alike. American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers (ASHRAE)

The American Society of Heating, Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Engineers (ASHRAE) is an international technical society that seeks to improve technologies related to heating, ventilation, air-conditioning and refrigeration (HVAC&R) in order to promote a sustainable world. The demand for engineers in this field is increasing at a fast rate. The change of philosophy in energy consumption now shifting toward sustainability is the perfect occasion for us to make a difference in the world.

The ASHRAE Concordia Chapter is aimed towards students in Building or Mechanical Engineering that are interested in building mechanics, energy efficiency, building controls, green building issues or alternative energy sources. Each year, we have mechanical room visits, company tours, career fairs, monthly dinner-conferences and more. In addition, members are provided with news on industrial trends, design ideas, and technical advancements.

Therefore, if you are a mechanical, building or any other engineering student looking to get involved in the HVAC&R industry, or if you just want to learn more about what ASHRAE has to offer, then e-mail us at ashrae@ecaconcordia.ca

Frontier College

Literacy is an essential skill in today's world. At Frontier College, we believe it's a fundamental right. Frontier College is Canada's original literacy organization, founded in 1899 by a group of university students and faculty with the mission to live, work and teach in isolated "frontier" settlements.

Frontier College at Concordia University has been active since 1992. We focus our activities in the neighborhoods around both campuses, Sir George Williams and Loyola. We primarily help underprivileged children and families in Little Burgundy, Lasalle and Notre-Dame-de-Grâce, and have other programs around the city.

Today, Frontier College volunteers and community partners work on Canada's "new frontiers" – inner city schools and streets, public housing sites, farms, prisons and reserves. Low literacy skills are directly linked to poverty, poor health and high unemployment. 42% of adult Canadians have trouble with everyday tasks that involve reading. That's millions of Canadians who are not reaching their potential.

Through a network of thousands of volunteers, Frontier College is helping people realize their potential and seize the opportunities that come their way

The John Molson Human Resources Association (JMHRA) is Concordia's very first Human Resources (HR) student association.

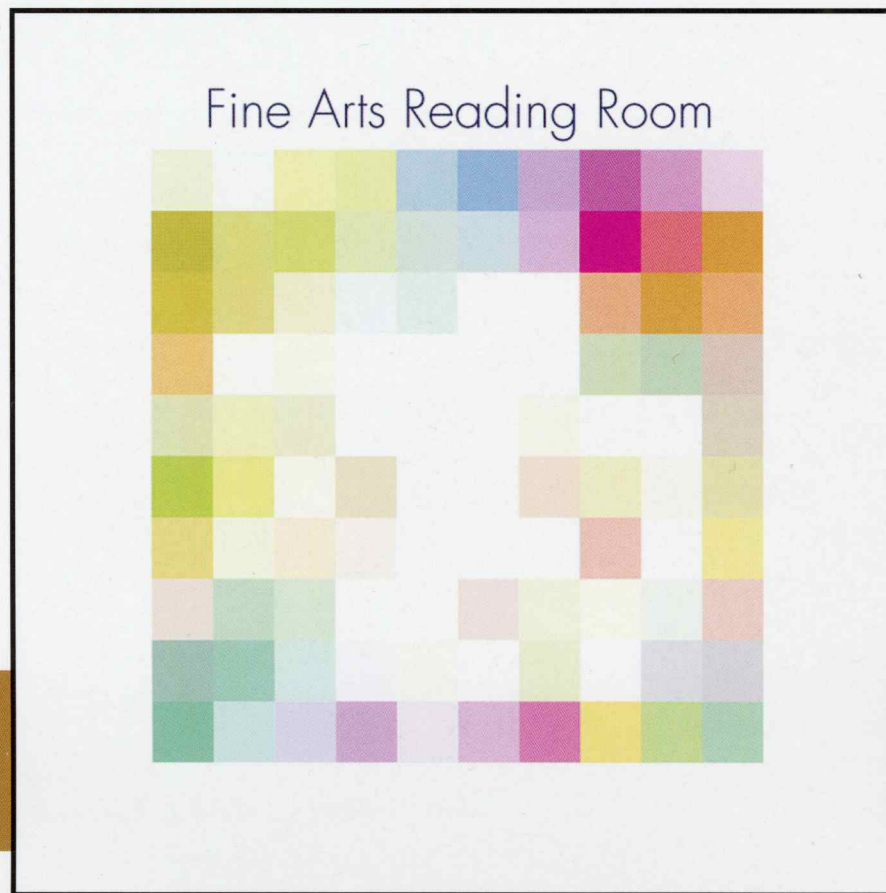

Founded in Summer 2009, after students and teachers alike saw the need for an HR association, the 10 members of the executive team have since then been pooling all their efforts together in order to deliver an enriched experience to Concordia students interested in HR.

To date, JMHRA has participated in many organized events, and have hosted a few of their own as well. These events include the student associations' table tour during the first week of school, their first meet & greet and a breakfast gathering, all for the purposes of creating networking opportunities.

Their goal is to be the voice for HR students and get them what they need to succeed. Their next events include a speaker bureau series and a cocktail with recent graduate students, and this all aims to inform current HR students about how much their program has to offer and the opportunities awaiting them.

All in all, JMHRA is a student organization run by students, for students.

Geography Undergraduate Student Society (GUSS) is a student run organization, with the specific goal being to improve undergraduate student life on campus at Concordia University by offering a good balance of social and educational events to Geography students.

From documentary screenings to student colloquiums, where students come together to share their experiences, GUSS aims to challenge fellow geographers' complacent state of mind within school walls, to promote action, and to create change! GUSS also aims to create a sense of community, doing so by hosting a beginning and end of the year party for students to come together, and meet their peers in a more relaxed atmosphere.

With representatives sitting on various councils (Sustainable Action Fund, Sustainable Concordia) our VP's are a great resource, or at least a helpful starting point in helping you realize any project you may have in mind! With the support and framework provided by GUSS, paired with other resources such as Concordia's Sustainable Action Fund (SAF), there is immense potential to foster student growth and initiative.

Zeta Tau Omega Sorority offers its members a wide variety of benefits, ranging from philanthropy events to networking within the Greek community! Our sorority hosts one charity a semester along side other community service events. Not only does it help us stay involved and give back to our community, it provides and excellent way to create sister like bonds which will last a life time and an amazing support system.

We host 2 charities annually; our most recent was "Comedy for a Cause". Proceeds went to Meningioma Mommas, a charity support group for women with Meningiomas. We also host parties throughout the year, generally 2 in the fall semester (one of which the money collected goes to our charity fund) and 1 more in the winter. We also have 3 formal events each year, Father/Daughter, Mother/Daughter and our Sweetheart Rose Ball (our annual formal dinner).

We spend a lot of time together, whether it is for sister events such as recreation or just for a cup of coffee in the morning before class. Being in a sorority also offers a lot of academic benefits, stemming from an ambitious atmosphere and having the ability to always find someone to study with!

The first aim in the new academic year was to recruit new members for the Bangladeshi Students Association, therefore a welcome booth was setup in the Hall Building, where people were free to sign up to be a BSA member, and learn about the clubs goals and future plans.

On the 6th of November a dinner party at the Mumbai Palace restaurant was organized, the goal of this event was to create a warm social atmosphere where people could come in cultural outfits and spend time with other Bangladeshis. To entertain the guests a professional comedian was invited. There was also some music and stand up performances from the students of the university.

A bake sale on the 4th of February was done to raise funds for the earthquake victims of Haiti, CSU acted as the medium for BSA to transfer the funds to the charitable organization. Apart from these events BSA took part in both the cultural fairs in fall and winter semesters which were organized by CISA and CSU respectively. In these fairs a booth had been set up in the Hall Building in order to serve a variety of authentic Bangladeshi food.

At the Graduate Students' Association, we work hard to represent graduate students' rights, to make sure they have access to support, services and fun social activities, as well as the opportunity to contribute to issues or causes that concern fellow students, the university and the community.

At the GSA House, students can use the cozy lounge for get-togethers or to relax, enjoy free fair trade coffee or watch TV. We have computer labs where students can print, copy or fax at a nominal cost. We answer students' queries, take care of graduate students' health insurance, organize French and English classes, parties, barbecues, fun events and important meetings during orientation, throughout the year. We offer trips for students to visit beautiful places in Canada and funding for special student projects or conference travel. We also contribute to various initiatives in the university regarding sustainability, accessibility, awareness, and the betterment of student life. Students are always welcome to voice their opinions or concerns at the GSA.

We strongly believe that the Concordia yearbook is a great opportunity to convey our message to students and make them aware about the services we offer and the mandate we seek to carry out.

Shidokan: "A true warrior has no confusion in his mind..."

No Martial Art symbolizes the spirit of the warrior more than the arts of Kendo and Iaido – the most respected living forms of Budo nowadays.

Although the metal swords have been replaced by bamboo and wood, all other aspects of the Samurai Spirit live on in the practice of these martial arts.

This intense training contributes greatly to self-development, builds up a strong character and clears the mind, giving the students confidence to overcome daily undertakings with the utmost commitment.

The main goal of the Shidokan Kendo and Iaido Club is to help students overcome their own limitations offering them the opportunity to experience an ancient Japanese tradition.

The Muslim Student Association of Concordia University has, for years, provided a number of services to all students. First and foremost is the space for Muslim students to fulfill their daily obligation of praying five times a day and especially the Friday congregation. Events such as lectures and presentations are held regularly to inform the student body of what the MSA does and to educate many non-Muslims about Islam. Many of these events are held with the cooperation of other clubs. Our other services include a student run Islamic Library aptly named the Reflections Library, where any Concordia student can register and borrow books from the vast selection regarding many topics on Islam. Our biggest event each year is the Islamic Awareness Day. We set up the assigned space and our many volunteers answer any and all questions anyone has about the MSA or Islam in general. There are contests where prizes are won and food is served and hennah for girls. Anyone wishing to join or find out more about the MSA can contact:

Graduate Diploma in Business administration Student Association (GDBSA)

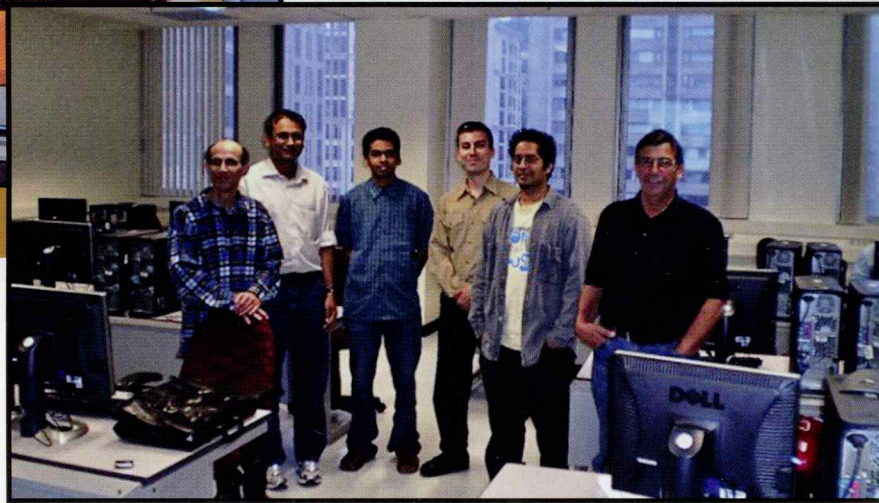

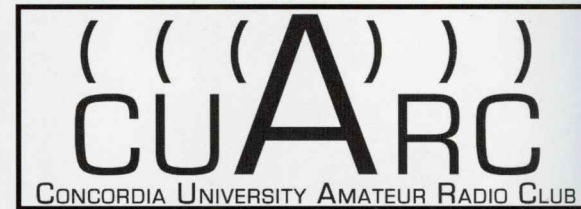

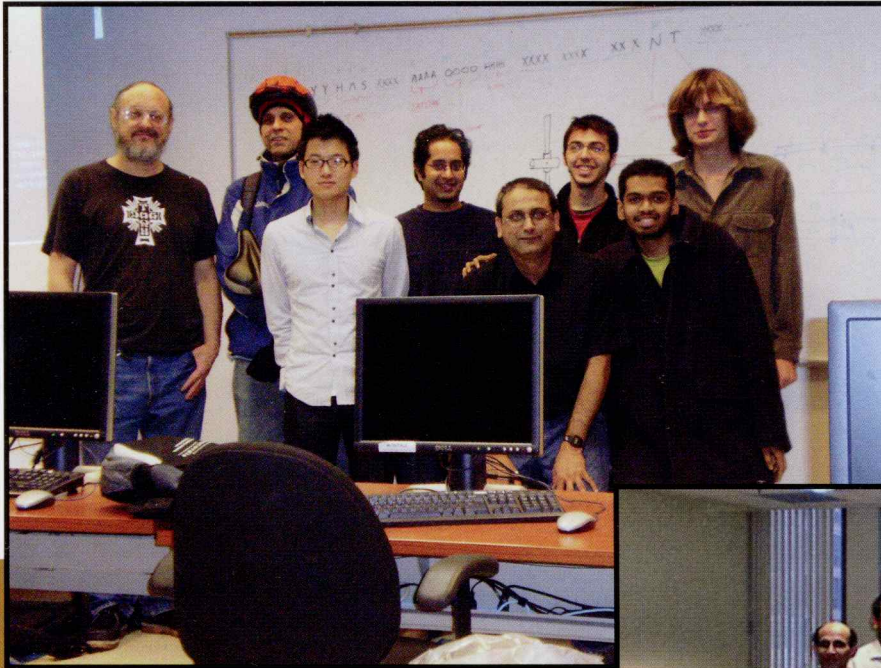

The Graduate Diploma/Certificate in Business Administration program was established in September 2009, with the current group being the first class to be enrolled. Being a new program, four of the students, Rabia Khan (President), Kaitlin Soye (VP External), Ian Swanson (VP Internal) and Patrick Logan (VP Finance), along with Jon Goldstein, who manages the GD/CBA blog, got together and started the Graduate Diploma in Business administration Student Association (GDBSA). The goal of this organization is to represent the students within this program to the Graduate Student Association. In addition, we organize social events for GD/CBA students and serve as an intermediary between other student associations and the GD/CBA students.

So far, we organized the first meet and greet which was a wonderful opportunity for the students to get to know each other and was a great success. We hope to have more events in the following semester.

Concordia University Amateur Radio Club (CUARC)

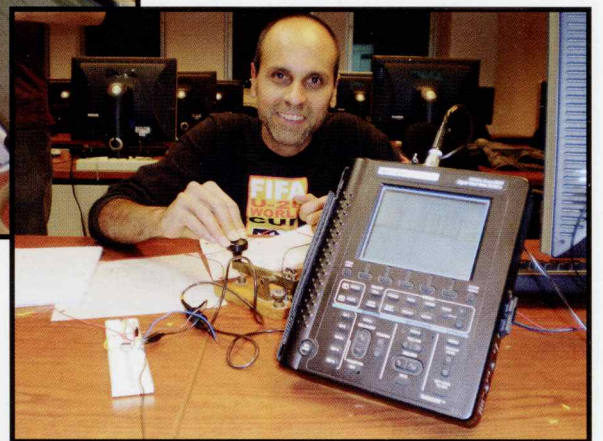

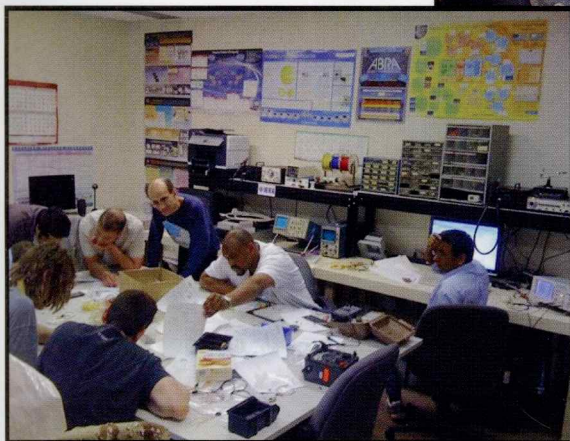

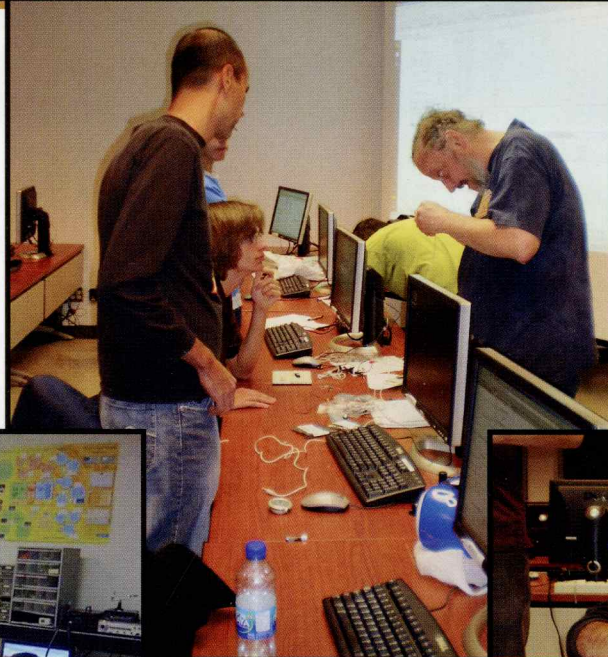

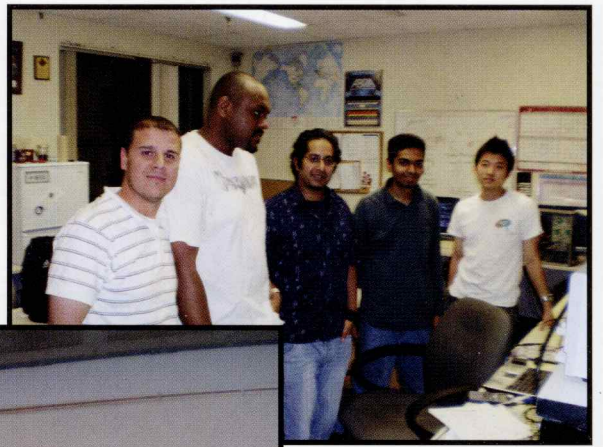

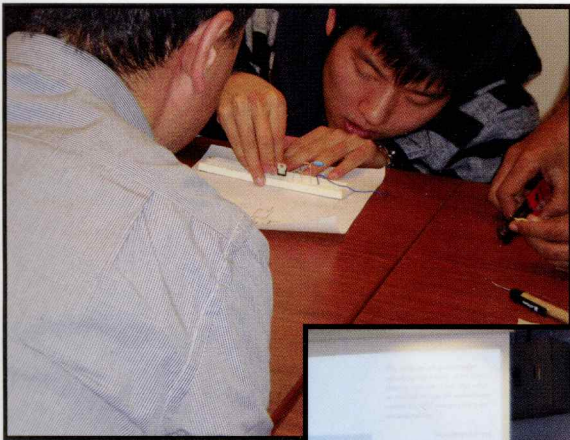

Greetings!

The Concordia University Amateur Radio Club (CUARC) is a place for students and community members to exchange ideas and get access to electronic and radio technologies. The group's motto is "Learn and Share What You Learn".

The club has been around for several decades, active at both Loyola and SGW campuses. CUARC has earned the University local and worldwide recognition through competitive events, and has provided relief during various emergencies over the years.

The latest incarnation of the club was officially reinstated this year, after a three-year hiatus, with a new generation of enthusiastic and innovative students and community members at the controls. Old equipment was dusted off, and a veritable revival process ensued as the digital generation met analog ancestors. Treasure troves of radio technologies and archived materials were discovered and within a few months of its inception a vibrant and active community of radio and electronics enthusiasts was meeting weekly and had conducted numerous workshops.

2010 CCSL and CUVI Awards Night

Annual event honours exceptional Concordians

"This evening is all about those who make things better," said a beaming Dean of Students Elizabeth Morey from the podium at the Montefiore Club April 8. The atmosphere at the annual Concordia Council on Student Life (CCSL) Awards ceremony is always ebullient. This year was no different.

The event honours Concordia students, staff and faculty who have made an exceptional contribution to student life or services.

This year, eight CCSL awards were given out.

The evening began with Chemistry and Biochemistry Technical Supervisor Miriam Posner receiving the Lina Lipscombe CCSL staff award to for her 30 years of service to the university as a student, staff and volunteer.

Posner, who called recently retired Lipscombe "not only a close friend, but a role model," said of the award: "It's more than special, it's priceless."

The second CCSL staff award was given to Rich SwamiNathan, who came to Concordia from Western University to establish the Alternative Spring Break.

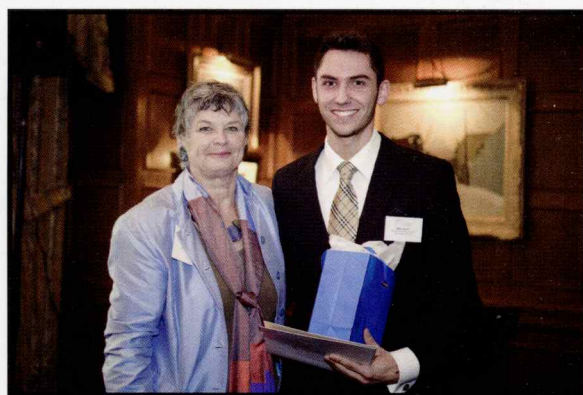

CCSL awards were also given to four faculty and staff members; Journalism Professor Brian Gabrial, Exercise Lab Instructor Christina Grace, Religion Professor Carly Daniel-Hughes and Theology Professor Andre Gagné.

Gagné, who was celebrated for the attentive mentoring of his students, credited the award to the guidance he received as a PhD student in Biblical Studies at UdeM and Université de Louvain in Belgium years ago. "You can never give what you haven't received," he said.

Two students also received CCSL Awards; former VP Services Loyola and CSU President-elect Prince Ralph Osei, and Cinema Politica co-organizer Svetla Turnin.

"To come from Africa to walk down the halls of Concordia is an honour in itself," said Osei. "I have to give back to my community."

CUVI Awards

This also marked the first year of the Concordia University Volunteer Initiative (CUVI) awards. Handed out to students, staff and faculty who have made an exceptional contribution to the community outside of the university, 11 CUVI awards were distributed.

Among student winners were Ashley Alton, Farah Haddad, Julian Egery, Thomas Prince, Eileen Wong and Ruby Jean Van Vliet Hagman.

Counselling and Development Strategic Learning Supervisor Anna Marczewska, and Institute for Community Development Director Lance Evoy (who will be retiring May 31) were among award winners for staff.

School of Community and Public Affairs Principal Eric Shragge took home a volunteer honour.

As well, CUVI awards were given to groups Art of Living Concordia and the Interfaith Ambassador Program leadership team.

Spirit of Giving Award

A new addition this year, President Judith Woodsworth announced the Spirit of Giving Award. The inaugural award was given to the many students, staff and faculty who contributed to the effort to help Haiti following the Jan. 12 earthquake – a combined effort involving more than 60 people who raised more than $20 000 and numerous boxes of clothing and food.

Accepting the award, President of the Haitian Students Association Randolph Pierre expressed his appreciation to Morey and the Dean of Students office for their exceptional support during the time following the devastation of his home country.

Athletics Awards Banquet

Rugby player Jackie Tittley and linebacker Cory Greenwood were named the Concordia University Athletes of the Year at a gala awards ceremony attended by more than 400 people on April 10 in Montréal.

Jackie Tittley is an exceptional second-year athlete who brings a lot of skills and character to her team, especially for a young player. From a skill point, women's rugby head coach Graeme McGravie says Tittley, a centre from Kirkland, Qué., has it all. She can kick, pass, run, tackle.

"She's such a dominant force, other teams in Québec scheme to run away from her," McGravie says. "But she can run side-to-side with anyone. She can adapt on the fly and she makes tackles for other people."

In Concordia's 2009 championship season, she was the leading scorer on the Stingers, collecting three tries, 22 converts, and five penalty goals for 74 points in six games. She was a Québec all-star and a CIS all-Canadian for the second straight year.

Cory Greenwood, a native of Kingston, Ont., is one of hardest working athletes to ever wear the Stingers' uniform. He is in superb physical condition and has earned a lot of respect for his devotion to training.

"Cory is the type of athlete that only comes around once in awhile," says Concordia head coach Gerry McGrath. "He has tremendous speed and size for his position. He is very athletic and very fast. He's also a physical player."

In eight games, Greenwood collected 62 total tackles to lead the Québec football conference. His 52 solo tackles and 20 assists ranked him fourth in the CIS.

He finishes his career as a three-time Québec all-star, a CIS all-Canadian and last November he was named the outstanding defensive player in Canadian university football. Greenwood is expected to be a first round pick in the CFL draft scheduled for May 2. He has also attracted the attention of a few NFL scouts.

Women's Hockey

It was a challenging season for the 2009-10 Concordia Stingers women's hockey team, playing in the strong Québec conference. The team posted a 1-16-3 win-loss-overtime record and finished in fifth place in the five-team league. The Stingers also had a 2-10 record in exhibition play. However, there was a good young recruiting class that will help the Stingers make great strides as it picks up experience in the next year or two.

There were a few individual honours for the Stingers. Right wing Catherine Rancourt was named the Fittest Female Athlete at Concordia's year-end athletic awards banquet. Goaltender Audrey Doyon-Lessard was the team's MVP, while left wing Emilie Bocchia was the outstanding rookie.

Men's Hockey

The Concordia Stingers men's hockey team was on a roller coaster ride in the 2009-10 season. The Stingers' 8-16-4 win-loss-overtime record saw them finish in eighth place out of ten teams in the OUA East. In the playoffs, Concordia lost a hard-fought playoff series to the UQTR Patriotes. The Trois-Rivières-based opponents took two out of three games from the Stingers in the first round of the OUA East playoffs. There was also a week in November when Concordia had the honour of hosting the Swedish Junior National Team. The international powerhouse was in Canada training for the World Junior Hockey Championships. The Stingers also enjoyed a ten-day, four-game exhibition tour of Germany over the holiday break.

A couple of Stingers earned individual honours. Captain Marc-André Element was the team's MVP. The right wing was also presented a $1,000 Guy Lafleur Award of Merit by the Montréal Canadiens and Brasserie Molson for his commitment to academic excellence and community service. Centre Kyle Kelly was the team's outstanding rookie.

Special Thanks To:

First of all I would like to thank Nancy Marrelli in the Archives Department for her contribution to the History section.

I would also like to thank, Maria Vach'yants, Nicolas Mancuso and Heidy Sasa for contributing their time and energy to put together the Current Events of 2009-2010.

I would like to thank Shawn Batten of Herff Jones for such a great year. Thank you so much for your support and patience.

I would like to thank HF Photo Studio for the beautiful graduation images and for helping us get everything together.

I would like to thank IITS Creative Media Services for use of photos from the Concordia Image Bank.

I would like to thank the Dean of Students Office for having the time to help me get everything together. Without Mary Burns, Lauren Broad and Jane Hackett, this book would never have been accomplished with such great success and ease. From the bottom of my heart, thank you so much, I appreciate everything you've done for me. It was a pleasure to have worked with all of you and obtain such a great successful accomplishment. Thank you so much.

Finally I would like to thank my family for their love and support. I would especially like to thank my mom for believing in me, and Chi thanks for always being there to cheer me on.

Thank You

Jennifer Ang
